

FROM CHRISTENDOM TO APOSTOLIC MISSION

Session Six

Chapter Five: The Key Task: Conversion of the Mind to a New Way of Seeing, Part I

The key task before us is to renew our minds (cf. Romans 12:2) so that we see with a Christian imaginative vision. This portion of the chapter addresses the need to do so and introduces the Christian vision.

Questions for Understanding

- When surveys tell us that people have lost Eucharistic faith, what does this tell us from an Apostolic perspective? (p. 67)
- What is a rough outline of the Catholic Imaginative Vision that goes beyond the natural world? (p. 68)
- What is the great apostolic task of our time? What does this mean to you? (p. 69)
- Does the Catholic Imaginative Vision think that we can be fully happy in this life? What does that mean for our expectations, here and now? (p. 72 - 73)
- Is the Catholic Imaginative Vision seeing some things differently or seeing everything differently? (p. 74)

Questions for Discussion & Action

- Roughly speaking, what percentage of the people in your parish/school/family clearly have a Catholic vision?
- How can you help the rest in your institution adopt a Catholic vision?
